

trical transmission tower that will run through the TUC.

Ms. Evans, the premier and the energy minister are all stonewalling electorates by redirecting written concerns to AltaLink and the Heartland project — the multinational industry that stands to make huge amounts of money to the detriment of the people living in established communities nearby.

Pushing the Heartland project through, this government is forcing thousands of Albertans (many of whom are children) into accepting the unacceptable. Towers of this magnitude put our biological, physical and mental health at risk — not to mention financial ruin and taking away our quality of life.

Yes, that is the reality! This government has changed laws and passed bills that disable our right to stop this questionable Heartland project.

I remind Ms. Evans that she is an elected MLA and should be our advocate. Ms. Evans should stand up to fight against this project, the way she did many years ago, when a smaller but similar transmission tower was proposed in her neighbourhood.

Ms. Evans, hear our concerns and act upon them. Represent us. After all, that is part of your job and what we elected you to do.

Requesting help from MLA Iris Evans

I am calling upon Iris Evans to represent her constituents through communicating our concerns to the legislature and particularly the government.

The issue that my family and thousands of others need representation on is the proposed 20-storey, 500kv overhead elec-
